Moot Court

Moot Court refers to a simulated bench trial. Moot court does not involve actual testimony by witness cross examinations or the presentation of evidence but is focussed solely on the application of the law.

In a moot court, new knowledge and experience is acquired by students. It connects the law student to real court experience. The moot court experience for law student develops the ability to identify the legal subject, research on case laws, prepare plead arguments and develop argumentative skills, art of rebuttal and surrebuttal, learn the Court etiquettes , respond to the queries raised by the judges and much more. The Bar Council of India, vide its revised curriculum for three year and five- year law course for implementation, has specifically issued a direction pertaining to:

- Moot court, pre-trial preparation and participation in trial/proceeding observance of trial in court.
- Attaching with the chamber of the senior advocate
- Viva-voce test along with written examination. For law students, courts and chambers of advocates are the places of pragmatic learning. Indeed, clinical legal education is an inducement in this direction and a great step for preparing lawyers of tomorrow.

Legal Aid Clinic

Legal Aid Clinic was established in the college with an intent to provide legal aid to the needy persons. Nobody should be deprived of his right to get justice, because of economic, social or other disability. Keeping in mind this view, the college of Law had started a Legal Aid Clinic to provide necessary legal assistance. This will help the deprived class of society whose rights are infringed. Legal Aid Clinic provides its services face to face as well as by organizing legal awareness programs in remote areas, so that the general public will be sensitised about their rights and in case of its breach what are the remedies available to them. Legal Aid Clinic is also helping the jail inmates by making them aware about their rights by visiting prison and providing legal advice.
